SALUTE TO THE STATES was the theme of the Freedom Fest parade and local youth carried a flag from each state in the union.

Festival sparkles

PAHOKEE—Pahokee sparkled bright on Independence Day as the Robert O. Lampi Alumni Band, the Amara Shrine Temple and others marched into town with the Freedom Festival. Although first the heat and then cloudy skies threatened to put a damper on the fest, the weather held off and the entire town joined in the fun starting with the First Freedom Fest Parade, continuing on the lake and culminating with a fireworks display. "For the size of the town we have, there was fantastic participation," summed up John Pender, a member of the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce Freedom Fest Committee which planned the event. Chamber President Jim Bennett said he had heard numerous positive comments about the fest. "Everyone was well pleased with the Freedom Festival and especially the parade," he said. One of the main attractions at the parade was the more than 90 Pahokee High School Band alumni who travelled from across the country to march with retired director Robert Lampi, also named parade marshal. The band also performed an impromptu concert during afternoon festivities on the waterfront. Continued on 8

Council, PMDC debate Pahokee waterfront pact

By TOM KISKEN
PAHOKEE—The saga continues. While members of the Pahokee Marina Development Corporation and the Pahokee City Council discussed differences over the proposed development of the marina and waterfront in a special workshop, Monday, July 9, the issue appears no closer to a resolution.

At the conclusion of Monday night's meeting, Steve Adelstein, president of PMDC, asked the city council to submit a written list of proposed changes in the 50-year development agreement over the waterfront, signed by the council back in spring of 1983.

Adelstein and Steve Korn, also of PMDC, said the city's lack of cooperation on the project has forced the developers to put their efforts in obtaining mandated permits on hold.

"Let's all get pulling in the same direction," Korn urged the council, in requesting the formation of a marina task force which could meet regularly with PMDC representatives.

Attorney Mike Stauder told the council at their regular meeting Tuesday, July 10 that it might not be wise to submit a written list of proposed changes in the lease. Such a list might be used to validate claims that the city is not fulfilling its obligations to cooperate with PMDC, he said.

Instead, the council asked Stauder to obtain a written status report of what has been done so far on the marina project from PMDC. Councilmen Ronnie Graydon and Curtis Miners said they were still interested in escaping the contract, if PMDC has not fulfilled all its obligations. "See if they're loopholes to get out of it," Graydon advised Stauder.

Council members Walt Rashley and Ada Conley said they were opposed to efforts to terminate the contract at this point. Conley said Continued on 2

Police fight speeding

By TOM KISKEN
SOUTH BAY—Speed causes accidents, says South Bay Chief of Police Ray Humston in explaining his department's concern with fast moving motorists.

Humston said the city's stepped up radar enforcement over the last two months has made city streets, particularly US 27 and SR 80, much more safe. "It does help with accidents and there is no reason a town our size should have the number of accidents we were having," he said.

Patrolman Ray Ruby, head of South Bay's radar program, said that over the last two months there have been no serious traffic accidents on US 27 and SR 80. Previously, an average of three to four accidents occurred on the roads each month.

The spotlight on US 27 in South Bay has traditionally been an unexpected meeting place between cane trucks and smaller vehicles. Ruby said that in his first year and a half with the department he saw 12 accidents at the light. Over the last two months there hasn't been one collision.

Both Ruby and Humston stressed the police is only after those motorists who blatantly ignore speeding laws.

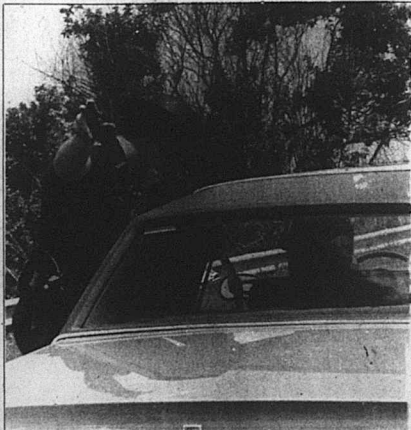

"We're after quality not quantity," Humston said. "We don't use this as an income source."

Most citations are issued to drivers going as much as 20 or 30 miles an hour over the speed limit, Ruby said, adding he was after those drivers who could potentially cause accidents. Often if drivers would just slow down when they see a patrol car, they could save themselves a citation.

"The tickets are given to, I use the term, inattentive and unsafe drivers," Ruby summarized.

Patrolman working radar do not try to hide their presence, rather they stay as visible as possible, Ruby said. The goal is to deter drivers from speeding without issuing tickets. "We're not there to trick them, but just to show them we're around," he said.

The police department wounds at men received the call Everglades Memorial at approximately 2:50 Hospital and then a.m. Harlow and K-9 released to the Pahokee Nick along with Police Department Patrolman Dennis McIntosh handled the case.

Traffic accident takes one life

BELLE GLADE—A man died Saturday afternoon, July 7, after stepping out in front of a vehicle on SR 80 at Southeast Second Street, according to police.

Detective Mike Johnson reported that Bruno Paelman, 33, 148 E. Canal St. South, died at about 6:27 p.m., Saturday at Glades General Hospital.

The police have not labeled the death a suicide, Johnson said, adding all possibilities are being investigated. Rumours about the man's medical history have not been confirmed.

the council should find out all the information it can about PMDC, but as of yet has no grounds for breaking the agreement.

Rashley urged the council to work with PMDC representatives toward final resolution of the issue. "These people are willing to work with us and I don't see why we're trying to get out of it," he said.

Adelstein, after Monday night's meeting, said PMDC believed they did have a binding agreement with the city and would try to enforce this agreement. Noting that he had never run into a similar situation before, Adelstein said frankly he had no idea if PMDC would ever gain control of the waterfront.

While legal action is a possibility if the city tries to escape its agreement, Adelstein said he would rather resolve the issue by working with city officials. "You don't win a war with a lawsuit," he said.

Council members W.E. McKinstry, Graydon and Miners told PMDC representatives they had three basic problems with the current agreement: lack of specifics, length of the agreement and the city's financial return.

McKinstry asked for a written list of exactly what PMDC hopes to do at the waterfront.

"How do you expect me to give you the property for 50 years without knowing what you will do with it?" he asked Adelstein.

Adelstein said all the projects at the waterfront are contingent on state approval. PMDC will do what it is allowed to do, he said. Already PMDC has been told that they can not build a motel on the waterfront. Several other projects, including a restaurant, are questionable.

PMDC could submit a list of projects which they will complete, if they can acquire the proper permits, Adelstein said.

Ray Hutton II said PMDC definitely planned on repairing the marina, building a new dockmaster's house, adding more boat slips and other projects. "We will make it significantly more desirable," he said.

Adelstein said PMDC has been told by state representatives that they will be able to obtain control of the state park, if the City of Pahokee shows some cooperation in changing the current permits. State officials claim the city is working against PMDC's efforts, he added.

The state park, which would be expanded to include up to 200 RV sites, is integral to PMDC plans. PMDC needs both the state land and the marina in order to have a successful operation, Adelstein said. "If we can't get the RV park, we're not interested."

Questioned by council members over the city's financial return in the development agreement which would start at $300 month and eventually be calculated on a percentage of gross receipts, Adelstein said PMDC had proposed what they felt was a fair price.

Adelstein said that whatever PMDC is offering is better than the current situation, noting that PMDC would make the marina much more desirable. "The underlying thing is what is the city doing now that is so much better,"

Rashley, at Tuesday night's council meeting, said that while William Joiner, who currently operates the marina, is paying about $20,000 to the city annually, the city is actually only making about $2,000 a year off the marina. He noted the city currently pays electric, water and maintenance bills.

In a related issue, the council voted to begin operating electric meters at the marina in an effort to bill Joiner for electric costs. The council also agreed to investigate the possibility of a marina audit.

Several longtime opponents of the PMDC agreement restated their opposition to the agreement at Tuesday's meeting.

Mayor Duncan Padgett stated, "I said from the beginning that before I'd sign it I'd resign because I wouldn't want my friend to think I was stupid enough to sign it. I still feel the same way."

Carmen "Pops" Salvatore told PMDC officials that their hopes for the marina were "pipe dreams" and would undoubtedly fail. He urged that officials tear up the contract and start over from the beginning.

"The tourists ain't coming out here," Salvatore said. "The man out of Palm Beach going to Fort Myers is going to stop in Pahokee?"

Other proponents of the issue made their opinions known also. Jon Mock, former council member who signed the PMDC agreement, said, "I think the city is obligated to help them out."

Police recover stolen property

PAHOKEE - Police recovered an estimated $2,000-$3,000 worth of property from a 15-year old boy's trailer last week, according to police reports.

The boy was charged on Monday, July 9 with three counts of burglaries ranging over the last three weeks and transferred to the Palm Beach County Division of Youth Services. Police said the boy was breaking in to trailers at the park on 229 W. Main St. and was storing the stolen goods in his own trailer.

In other arrests, police notified a West Palm Beach man that they had recovered his 1972 Chevrolet automobile reported stolen June 27.

Patrolman Ethridge Bryant said he charged Rubin Canton, of West Palm Beach, Tuesday, July 10 at about 7:18 p.m. with possession of the stolen vehicle. Canton was picked up driving the car on East Second Street in Pahokee. Bryant said he originally stopped the man to investigate a report about a stolen tip.

Also, on Friday, June 6, Ervin Eugene Combs, 21, of Pahokee, was charged with burglary, battery and resisting an officer with violence.

Patrolman Mike Harlow said he apprehended Combs as he was attacking Mattie Jones at her apartment on 419 S. Lake Ave. Harlow said Combs turned on him and Patrolman Dennis McIntosh when they attempted to escort him to the patrol car. Only after several minutes of fighting on the ground were the officers able to bring the man under control, Harlow said.

South Bay, county say no to hike

SOUTH BAY - South Bay city commissioners show a touch of ESP in their special meeting Tuesday, July 10. Just as Palm Beach county commissioners were rejecting a four-cent gas tax proposal in West Palm Beach, city commissioners indicated their opposition to the same proposal.

South Bay City Commissioner Clarence Anthony said he was not satisfied with the county's proposals for using the monies to be raised by the tax hike. Not enough of the money, the tax hike, the problem, she said, is that in the Glades. Only currently the county is Airport Road within using its road money in the Glades was other areas.

The tax proposal was faced in the county's defeated by a 3-2 vote five year proposed by county commissioners. Commissioners Bill Bailey and to say the Glades needs Dennis Koehler both help out here," he said, voted for the tax hike, adding that he had also at its special hoped the county meeting, Tuesday, the would have donated South Bay City some money to the SR mission.

Cox submits resignation

SOUTH BAY - South Bay Mayor Vernita Cox last week officially submitted her resignation from the city commission in order to qualify as a candidate for the District Five seat on the Palm Beach County Commission. The resignation, win or lose, will take effect Jan. 1 when new county commissioners assume office. Cox said she intends to qualify for the county election within the next couple weeks.

emergency jobs bill, which will allow the Palm Beach County Community Development to pave Northwest Eighth Avenue between Palm Beach Road and Northwest First Street. Community Development will cover the cost of the project, estimated at $78,545.

Scheduled to make a final decision on hiring a city attorney, to replace Jim Gann, at their meeting, Tuesday, July 17.

Discussed the need for a drug rehabilitation center in the Glades. Cox said the drug problem in South Bay is getting worse and urged commissioners to do whatever possible to bring some type of rehab center to the area.

Bronco drawing rescheduled

PAHOKEE -Pahokee Chamber of Commerce directors continue to sell chances on the 1984 Ford Bronco II, with the drawing slated for Saturday, July 21, beginning at 6 p.m. at Prince Theater. Tickets for the Bronco and other prizes including a rod and reel fishing set, a quartz watch and coolers can be obtained for $30 apiece from the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce office. More information can be obtained by calling 924-5579.

The drawing was originally slated for the Freedom Fest, Wednesday, July 4. However, Chamber President Jim Bennett reported directors must sell nearly 300 more tickets before they will be able to raise enough money to purchase the Bronco from Pahokee Ford. About 290 tickets had been sold, as of Monday, July 9.

Noting about 800 tickets have been printed for the drawing, Bennett stressed no new tickets will be printed.

The vehicle is on display in the Pahokee Ford parking lot.

Belle Glade names Strang as water district liaison

BELLE GLADE—The Belle Glade City Commission appointed City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang as their liaison to the South Florida Water Management District Board of Directors, at their regular meeting, Monday, July 9.

FPL granted reduced hike

Electric bills for July will be slightly higher due to a rate increase granted Florida Power and Light Company by the Florida Public Service Commission (PSC).

Florida Power and Light Company, the state's largest electric company, had requested a $455 million rate increase, but was granted only $196.5 million, according to the PSC.

Of the final amount granted, $91.5 million will be effective for meter readings taken on or after July 20, according to a PSC Commission Consumer update.

The remaining $116 million of the increase will be effective in January, 1985. This was the first time the PSC has approved a subsequent year adjustment for a company requesting an increase in an attempt to eliminate the need for frequent rate requests. According to the PSC release, the portion of the increase effective in July will raise the bill of the average residential customer using 1000 kilowatt hours by $2.34.

The biggest cut made in the amount requested by FPL came with the reduction of approximately $83 million in operating costs, elimination of construction-work-in-progress allowances, and reduction of the company's authorized rate of return.

Strang said his responsibilities will be to keep the commission informed of any water management decisions or issues which might affect the Glades.

The appointment of the liaison, came as a result of a Tri-Cities League meeting, June 28, where Glades agricultural representatives urged area officials to enhance communications with the water district. Belle Glade Mayor Thomas Altman, at the Tri-Cities meeting, said he would ask Belle Glade officials to appoint a liaison and urged South Bay and Pahokee officials to follow suit.

The Pahokee City Council, in its meeting Tuesday, July 10, appointed Ronnie Graydon to serve as their liaison.

In other Belle Glade business, at the July 9 commission meeting:

Commissioners voted to submit an application on behalf of the Glades Area Association of Retarded Citizens for a $5,000 grant from the Florida Department of Community Affairs. The grant would be used, along with $5,000 in matching funds from the ARC, to train mentally retarded adults in horticulture and lawn maintenance.

State regulations prevented the ARC from submitting the application themselves, sending them instead to the city commission.

The commission completed opting out processes in regards to the county's brand new hand gun ordinance. Commissioners approved an emergency ordinance which will allow anyone in the city to forgo the 14-day waiting period when purchasing a handgun. Last week, commissioners passed an initial ordinance on the matter, but were told by county officials that the ordinance only covered dealers of firearms, allowing them to bypass the new licensing procedure required by the county law.

Approved the appointment of George Durmoot to replace John Wright as head professional at the city golf course. Durmoot, an assistant pro at the course for the past three years, will also operate the pro shop located at the Belle Glade Country Club.

Commissioners agreed to retain Newton, Holt, Miner & Kisker to perform the city's audit for the 1983-84 fiscal year. Finance Director Frank Anderson reported the firm is asking a five percent fee increase. The auditing firm was also hired for a fee in the range of $7,880 - $11,500 to put together a policy and procedures manual for the city's finance department.

Strang officially commended all city employees involved in the response and evacuation to the chlorine leak at the sewer plant two weeks ago.

Calvin Lamb, of Belle Glade, complained about the quality of cable television provided by Sunbelt Cable Ltd.

Vapors leak at GCI

BELLE GLADE—An incident in which a small amount of chlorine vapors were emitted at Glades Correctional Institute was termed minor by a GCI official.

Jerry Arline, GCI assistant superintendent, said confusion in mixing chemicals, Thursday morning, July 5, at about 10 a.m. led to the evacuation of about 30 inmates from work sites surrounding the sanitary area. "It wasn't a big incident, it was more precautionary, trying to protect everybody,"

Stepherson slated for school board

Governor Bob Graham has announced the appointment of LaVoise T. Stepherson of Belle Glade to the Palm Beach County School Board.

Stepherson, 36, is a licensed funeral director at Taylor Funeral Home. She received a bachelor's degree in biology at Fisk University and a master's degree in counselor education at the University of Florida.

A representative of the governor's office said Stepherson was chosen for her commitment to education and her ability and desire to serve the community.

Stepherson is a member of the Urban League of Palm Beach County and the Florida Morticians Association. She is also serving on the Governor's Commission on Black he said.

Reportedly, an inmate on a work detail mixed the wrong element with powdered chlorine in the process of making a cleaning element, Arline said. Vapors were emitted, which the man inhaled. The inmate whose name was not released, was treated at Glades General Hospital.

Belle Glade Fire Department and Atlantic rescue units were called to the scene. Jesse Womack, acting fire chief, said the area was soon rendered safe.

Her term expires in November, 1984. Stepherson could not be reached for comment on her appointment as of press time.

The 1926 hurricane hits

Editor's note: the following is the second in a series recounting the early Glades experiences of the Floyd Wilder family. Reprinted with the permission of "Tampa Bay History", Department of History, University of Southern Florida.

As Told By Floyd Wilder
To RUTH S. IRVIN

Very few people remember the first storm in 1926 but I remember it hit us in a hard way because of the location of our house. It must have struck in July, and it was a hurricane to us.

The day this hurricane blew in, my father and Mr. Nimble had gone to South Bay. They had walked across the roadway, crossed the canal in a row boat, and walked down the south side of the canal into South Bay. They left the boat tied up on the south side of the canal, Melvin, Raymond, Laura, and I were home alone when the rain began to fall and the wind off the lake began to blow.

The dike holding back the waters of Lake Okechobee was breached and the water began to flow in all around us. The dike-up roadway that was being built held back the water like the rim of a bowl. We were soon trapped in ten or twelve feet of water. I noticed that Nellie, the horse, was swimming in the water. The house filled rapidly and we were forced to leave. We swam through the wind and the rain to the dike-up roadway and climbed on top of it.

We huddled on the road beaten by wind and rain. Mr. and Mrs. Hudson and their children, who lived on toward Bean City from us, made it to the road and all of us huddled there together. I heard Mrs. Hudson cry out over the sound of the wind. "Oh Lord! Why do you do this to me?"

A piece of tin flew by at this instant, hit her on the head, and knocked her out. About this time my father and Mr. Nimble appeared on the other side of the canal - a welcome sight to all of us. They immediately brought the boat over and began to ferry us to the south side of the canal, two at a time. Mrs. Hudson came to and she was not hurt too bad. Soon, we were all on the other side.

We went south out into a field about a mile from the canal and of us crawled into a corn crib half filled with shelled with corn and pumpkins.

We chewed dry corn and raw pumpkin when we got hungry, as there was nothing else to eat. We stayed there until the next afternoon. The water began to drain back in the lake when the storm died down and the wind abated.

We made our way home to find that the house had been flooded and all of our food was ruined. Black, soupy mud had soaked our mattresses and bedding and lay four to six inches deep on everything. My father went to South Bay and got food from V.C. Denton's grocery store and brought it back to us that same afternoon. The Fordson tractor had been completely submerged. The had to replace coil in each of its four cylinders. They drained and dried it out and finally got it running again.

Lots of fish had blown out of the lake, and water lay in pools all around. Melvin was trying to catch a catfish out of the water and the fish flung him through his boot. It did not hurt him very much, but it wouldn't have mattered if it had for there was not a doctor anywhere around.

I heard, a long time later, that the wind blowing from north to south in this July hurricane or big storm, pushed the water from the north side of the lake. The people in Okechobee walked out of the dry lake bed and gathered up fish quite a way out before the water came back again.

My sister Vivian was working as a waitress in a cafe in Clewiston run by a Mrs. Dinger. Mildred was working in West Palm Beach. Hilda stayed at home and did most of the cleaning and cooking before she married Clarence Lee. She had two children by her first marriage, and she and Clarence had a baby. They were living at Sebring Farm near Lake Harbor. Clarence operated a boat on the lake; and Melvin looked after Laura, Raymond, and me when our father was not around.

Coming or going

The Hawaiian Aloha means both hello and goodbye, so you may greet someone who is coming or going. An absent-minded professor stopped to talk to a friend, but when they parted he asked which way he was going when he stopped. The friend said "North." The professor smiled and said, "Then I have had lunch."

Some of us do not know whether we are coming or going. Jesus was talking to a group of Jews and said, "You don't know from where I have come, or where I am going." Jesus knew His origin and His destination. Do you?

The world transportation systems are moving millions of people. More than 250,000 Americans will be going overseas this summer. Many will be going by jet at more than ten miles a minute. Millions will be on the highways this summer for vacations. Most of these know where they are going.

Millions of high school seniors graduated last month. Many are going to college, and others to work. A goodly number know in what way they are going to specialize.

Tomorrow morning millions of people will get up to prepare for work and will leave home for the place of their employment.

The large percentage of people know where they are going in the way of work, vacation, and education. Yet, how many know where they are going in the spiritual way? Jesus said "I know where I have come from, and where I am going." He is telling us that He is from God the Father, and is going back to God the Father.

Christ's origin and destination have a definite relation to ours. For if we believe in Him then we are one with him, brothers, co-heirs. His origin becomes ours and His destiny ours.

Our lives are a part of God's plan and purpose, as Christ's was and is. Therefore, we are not an object of chance, but a player in God's eternal drama.

This fact is an article of faith which gives us confidence in the future.

So we are from God, made in His image. Why then are we distraught and undecided? The human mind steps forward and demands to be in charge. We don't want to be subordinate and by no means submissive.

We have the choice and therein lies the problem. Instead of seeking help we strike out on our own and are lost. Christ has to be sent to bring us back into union with God.

God in Christ has reconciled the world unto Himself. We even react against this because too many are included in this reconciliation. We don't like God's choice. We had rather be in a more exclusive group, especially if we are to be brothers with them in Christ.

Reconciliation also means we have become new creatures and this is not to our liking. We would like for the new life to be just a better model of what we had before. Better for us since this is our main emphasis and desire.

The reconciliation means putting away something old and putting on something new. The old must be replaced. The nothingness is replaced with the purpose, a mission, in reality a full time job as an ambassador for Christ.

It is here we find the going rough. Because before we can go to witness and represent Christ we must follow Him up the road to the cross. The suffering and agony must be meaningful so that we can feel the full implication of the resurrection of the new life in Christ.

This is the way we are going. We must go all the way with Christ. The willingness to become a disciple at first blush seems exciting, but we are not in condition to pick up His cross. The sharp edges cut into our inexperienced shoulders.

The way is to the Father. It is hard but not impossible. It is impossible if we try to do it by ourselves. The way is lighted by the Light of the world. The way has become more distinct because He has already gone before and had led many along the way.

Let's follow Him. He knows where He is going and He is going to a city not made with hands, whose maker and builder is God.

Take the guesswork out of your spiritual plans. Christ knows where He is from and where He is going. You can also, if you will follow after Him. Who gave up His life to save all of us. The response is open to us - you and

People make life in Glades unique

By TOM KISKEN

BELLE GLADE—Friendliness, says Claude Tindall, is a key to life in the Glades and one of the things which has kept him in the area, serving the community the past 18 years.

"It's the people more than anything in this area," said the Belle Glade city commissioner. "They're all real friendly. The people have been real good to me here."

Tindall, 73, 1600 N.W. Ave. N., recalled the negative stories he heard when he first considered moving to Belle Glade to head the Glades Sub Station for the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department more than 18 years ago. He was told about the proliferation of crime in the area, the toughness of the people and how he was going to hate living in the area.

"But after I get here and lived her a year, I realized I wouldn't want to live nowhere else," Tindall said.

First as a law enforcement officer and now as a city commissioner, Tindall does what he can to repay the Glades area people for their friendliness. "I get a lot of satisfaction out of serving the people of this community," he said.

A commissioner since 1977, Tindall said he tries to represent the interests of the entire Belle Glade population. Before voting on an issue, Tindall said, he tries to look at the overall picture weighing positive points against negative aspects. "You can't let your emotions dictate, you have to rely on your good quiet sense."

Among the toughest decisions he's made as a commissioner is selecting a city manager and putting together annual budgets, Tindall said. A good city manager is essential to an effective, efficient government, he said, noting that often small communities have a difficult time finding a qualified administrator. "I consider us very fortunate to have Tommy Strang."

Balancing a budget is easy only when you have plenty of money, Tindall said with a grin. Unfortunately, Belle Glade for the last several years has had to cut corners where they can, forcing the commission to make difficult decisions.

Three priorities for the city in this year's budget are street repairs, housing and law enforcement, Tindall said.

Hopefully, the commission will be able to allocate enough funds to allow the city to catch up on its paving and street repairs, he stated. Housing is a constant concern which the commission has to battle week to week, Tindall said. "Anyone who says we ignore housing doesn't know what they're talking about."

Law enforcement is of utmost importance in the Glades, Tindall said. The commission's concern has paid big dividends as the police department compares favorably with any in the state, he continued.

Overall, Belle Glade is in pretty good shape, Tindall said. With the new water plant and the city's recently regained title over the marina, the city's position is solid, he said. "I'm rather proud of our town," Tindall said. "I really can't see many reasonable complaints about it."

Belle Glade's future, Tindall said, while bright probably does not include rapid growth. "A town like Belle Glade is not that type of town to expect a lot of growth," he said. "We're limited in where we can go."

Initially elected to the commission in 1977, Tindall said encouragement from the community prompted his campaign. Since then, Tindall has been re-elected three times, twice without opposition. For most of his seven years on the commission, he has also served as vice mayor.

"My tenure with the city of Belle Glade has been wonderful," he said. Tindall retired from the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department in 1977 with 30 years as a law enforcement officer. While the Glades was always rumored as a wild area, Tindall said he had very few problems in his nine years as the head of the Glades Sub Station. "You've fundamentally got the people behind you and that's what it takes to make good law enforcement."

Before coming to Belle Glade, Tindall worked as a deputy with sheriff's departments in Osceola, Broward, Polk and Okeechobee counties. He ran twice for the sheriff's position in Broward County in the 1950's, defeated by just 92 votes in 1950.

Tindall's wife Audrey has arranged their living room into a visual history of Tindall's life. One wall is covered with various awards and honors he has received in his 30 years in law enforcement. Back in his Broward County days, he was named one of the two outstanding enforcement officers in Florida.

Area athletes in nationals

Six Glades high school athletes are competing this week in the National Youth Athletic Track and Field Championship, in Provo, Utah and will also compete next week in the Junior Olympics, in Baton Rouge, La.

The Palm Beach County Community Foundation has sent a team to represent the area in the national championships. Shannon Sadler, of the foundation, noted the Glades is the area most heavily represented on the team.

Local athletes competing include from Glades Central Community High School, in Belle Glade: Evette Lyman, heptathalon; Rechina Johnson, heptathalon; Leontye Mann, 440 dash; Gladys Minton, discuss; Garcia Tucker, 440 dash; and Lawrence Duncan, high jump. Athletes competing from Pahokee High School include Cecil Dryden, 440 dash, and Jeff Frost, 880 medley and the 440 relay.

The team left for Provo, Sunday, July 8, and will compete in the national championships all week. Immediately following the nationals, the team will head for Baton Rouge, where they will compete in the Junior Olympics.

Sadler said the chance to compete nationally was a golden opportunity for Glades athletes and other team members.

"This is giving them a chance to be viewed by scouts with the Olympic team," she said. "This is a real opportunity, a way out for these kids."

The county athletes have the talent to win an individual event or two, as well as turn the heads of a few scouts, she said.

In preparation for the national meets, the team practiced daily at Twin Lakes High School under the direction of boys' coach Richard Molere, of Twin Lakes, and girls' coach Harry Howell, of Cardinal Newman. Jay Seider, girl's coach at Glades Central Community High School, is also making the trip.

Sadler noted this is the first year the county foundation has sent a team to the national events. The foundation is covering transportation, room and board.

Memories from the Pahokee Fest

THE ROBERT O. LAMPI ALUMNI BAND

FLAGS of all shapes and sizes adorned the Freedom Fest, Wednesday, July 4, in Pahokee.

THE SINGING ANGELS provided gospel music at the Freedom Fest.

The afternoon festivities, featuring booths with all sorts of games and foods, also went over well, Bennett said. Several groups, including the Pahokee High School Athletic Council and the Elks Club, reported their booths and dinners were sold out by the end of the day.

The chamber did not fare as well financially in the fest. Bennett reported the fest committee was about $2,933 in the red.

Bennett reported that about 100 residents attended the community church service held in early Wednesday evening at the Prince Theater and which featured over 20 local residents blending their voices in a community choir.

The fest culminated with a fireworks display. Pahokee Police Lt. Ed Feltner reported that nearly a boxful of illegal fireworks were confiscated by police. Except for the fireworks police reported no problems at the fest.

Bennett and other fest committee members commended the police department for their efforts.

Virtually all of the planning of the Freedom Fest was done by the fest committee, whose members include: Bennett, chairman, Pender, Lynda Moss, Mike Poza and Julia Johnson. Bennett singled out several other individuals and groups who helped put the fest together. Don Thompson, Pahokee High School football coach, and his team provided invaluable assistance with moving equipment to the waterfront, Bennett said.

Richard Mount, Pahokee's public works director, department helped not only with setting up tables and chairs, but also with cleaning the town up for the fest, Bennett said. The Pahokee Drug Awareness Program also helped with the city cleanup.

The Singing Angels, the Rev. Elwin Burke and the Xi Alpha Mu chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority also deserve recognition for their help, Bennett said. "We give a special thanks to everyone who participated, without them there wouldn't have been a Freedom Fest."

At a meeting of the fest committee Monday, July 9, members agreed next year's fest will be much improved, provided the proper planning goes into it. Bennett suggested an expanded 15-member committee begin meeting almost immediately to plan the event. The overall committee should be divided into sub-committees which would overlook each particular aspect of the fest, he said.

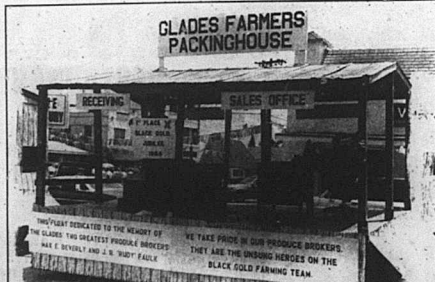

People who have agreed to serve on the committee, Bennett said, include: Carlene Walker, Kathy Cross, Alice Thompson, Barbara Branch, Mary Lee Salvatore, Lynda Moss, John Pender, Don Thompson, Bubba Mock, Richard Mount, Jim Bennett and Mickey Pender.

SHRINERS chug along on their way through the Freedom Fest parade.

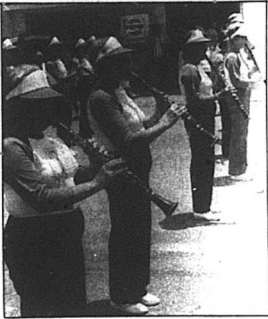

UNCLE SAM added a touch of patriotism to Freedom Fest activities.

BOYNTON FARMS, which entered this float, was one of many local business to participate in the Freedom Fest.

Four South Bay patrolmen are certified to work radar, Humston said. Three of these officers just completed their radar training, which includes 40 hours of classroom and on-the-road study. In the last two months, the department has three radar guns, two which must be operated from a standstill and one mobile gun.

Before a radar certified patrolman can even check a car's speed on radar equipment, several steps must be completed, Ruby said. First, the equipment must be tested before and after every use to insure accurate readings. Before gauging speeds, the officer must be in an appropriate radar area. The area must be well marked and should be well beyond speed zone boundaries.

The patrolman has to visually ascertain that the car is speeding. Ruby continued. An audio beep emitted from the radar machine will tell the patrolman if the car is moving excessively fast. If all these steps have been completed and confirm that a driver is speeding, only then can the officer check his radar display and issue a ticket.

If a patrol car attempts to pull over a speeding vehicle, the pedestrian should pull his car to the far right lane next to the curb at the first safe opportunity. Ruby said. Headlights should be turned off, but parking lights should be left on, he added.

Noting some people refer to South Bay as a speed trap, Ruby said several agencies patrol the South Bay area, including the Florida Highway Patrol, Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department and the Florida Freshwater Game Commission.

Humston said that while the department has recently accelerated their radar efforts, it is not by any means the department's top priority. Patrolmen only work radar when they are not called elsewhere, he said, adding that often entire shifts go by without any speeding citations issued. Ruby added that radar is worked more during high traffic periods.

South Bay police have made several unexpected big arrests, as a result of enforcing speeding laws, Ruby said. Just recently, he said he picked up a speeding motorist only to find out that the man was driving a stolen vehicle.

Cars are used in most crimes, he will tell the patrolman that often a driver is speeding for a reason. "A lot of them have a lead foot trying to put distance between them and where they were," he said.

Humston said the new no parking stripes, recently painted on parts of US 27, have also helped reduce accidents as parked cars previously blocked motorists' vision.

Palm Beach County has also restriped the school zone around Rosewald Elementary School which will help the department in enforcing reduced school crossing speeds limit this fall.

Pahokee council schedules Prince Theater workshop

PAHOKEE—The Prince Theater will be the topic of a Pahokee City Council workshop, Tuesday, July 17, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Council Member Ada Conley said anyone interested in the theater should attend the meeting. Among the issues to be discussed will be membership and rules governing the Prince Theater Committee, possible uses of the theater and any other points of interest.

Conley suggested the council hold the special workshop, at their regular meeting, Tuesday.

July 10. She noted that currently the Theater Committee is operating under very use guidelines and needs to redefine its structure.

In other city business at the July 10 meeting:

✓The council scheduled a special meeting to discuss the city's comprehensive five-year land-use plan for Tuesday, August 7, at 6 p.m. Council members will meet with the planners who are putting the city's mandated plan together.

✓The council voted unanimously to have Attorney Mike Stauder draw up an ordinance allowing the city to opt out of the county's new handgun ordinance. The ordinance, put in effect in late June, implements a 14-day waiting period for persons applying for gun permits and also requires firearm dealers to acquire licenses before selling their goods.

✓Councilman Ronnie Graydon was appointed to serve as the city's liaison with the Southern Florida Water Management District Board of Directors.

✓Don Thompson encouraged the council to continue to work on upgrading and expanding the city's tennis facilities. Thompson said tennis is a growing sport in the city, noting that a couple city leagues are already in the planning stages. Councilman Walt Rashley told Thompson that the city has asked for bids for resurfacing current city courts. Rashley also promised to continue working toward new courts for the city.

✓Council members voted to raise Assistant Fire Chief Dan Sanders' salary $1,000. Rashley and Graydon said the council promised Sanders earlier in the year that he would receive his salary in order to keep the department's pay scale in order. Several other proposed raises for city employees were deferred to budget sessions, tentatively scheduled for later this summer.

✓Attorney Mike Stauder reported city officials met with Health Department representatives July 3 and discussed a sudden loss in water pressure in the city system back in May which department officials said went unreported. City officials signed a document saying they abide by the law in such situations, thereby resolving the issue, according to Stauder.

✓The council agreed to accept bids on two new trucks for the utility department. Assistant Utilities Director Ed Balmer told the council the trucks were badly needed, pointing out that one of the current trucks was almost ten years old and just about of no use.

Tindall

over the years. I don't know if I've deserved them all, but I've got them," he said.

Law enforcement has become a family tradition for the Tindalls. His father served as sheriff in Osceola County for 20 years and Tindall's oldest son, Quinn is a Fort Lauderdale policeman.

However, Tindall said it wasn't his father's career which sparked his interest in law enforcement. "If anything that would have kept me out of it," he said.

Rather, it was the satisfaction of serving others which made law enforcement worthwhile.

Tindall's living room wall of accomplishments at his home also includes memories of his days as a rodeo cowboy. His specialty, Tindall said, was saddle bronc riding, although he also competed in calf roping and bronc riding.

The Tindall name and rodeos become synonymous in Davies back in the 1940's and 1950's, that the town named its arena the "Claude A. Tindall Rodeo Arena."

Much of his time these days is spent with his favorite hobby—training dogs. Tindall owns ten dogs which he teaches to round up cattle and sheep.

Between the dogs, city business and just visiting with old friends, Tindall said he keeps pretty busy.
